

“Markets
incentivize
the production
of high quality
products.”

“Ideally the eventual result of voluntary
exchange is that sellers can't make themselves better
off without producing something that makes buyers
better off...”

“In the free market, every dollar that is spent signals to producers what should be produced and how it should be produced.”