

7. How did it benefit colonists to exchange sheep with other cultures?

It earned them wealth and allowed them to import higher quality breeds of sheep and expand their market.

8. Why were the British unhappy about the thriving wool market in the colonies?

They were jealous and felt threatened because wool was important to their economy.

9. What new fiber markets did colonists explore after the Wool Act?

Flax, hemp, linen, and cotton

