

Topographic Class

- Generally Level Terrain
- Rolling Hills to Moderate Slopes
- Steep Slopes

*Level terrain includes areas of little relief relative to adjacent topography such as lakes and outwash plains. Rolling hills to moderate slopes exhibit variable relief over broad reaches including till plains and drumlinized terrain. Steep slopes exhibit highly variable relief relative to adjacent topography and include glacially-scoured or steam-dissected bedrock terranes.