

The process of making out ice cream...

We brainstormed ideas as a group. We spent a couple of days brainstorming, and then we narrowed down our options to 2 we would create.

We selected a base recipe for vanilla ice cream, and mixed up 2 batches to put in our ice cream machine.

We measured and counted together as a group.

We loaded up the ice cream maker and ran it until the ice cream was soft set.

Then we poured our ice cream out into 3 containers. One to make "Bingo" ice cream (based on the TV show Bluey), and 2 to make 2 variations of s'mores ice cream.

We folded in the ingredients, based on the recipe the students' decided as a class.

"Bingo"

"S'mores"

later named "Smashed S'mores"

We did a taste test of our 3 ice cream creations.

Our overall favorite was our S'mores flavor made with marshmallow fluff.
