

Everyday 7 year old Abigail Publy walked down to the cow pasture.

In the barn her Papa was milking the cows. "Hi Papa" Abigail said,

"Hi Abigail ready to feed the new born calf" "you bet I am".

On the farm there cow Debbie just had a calf last week, but Yesterday Debbie got sick and died. Now the new born calf

Rose is all alone. "Breakfast" Mother always made the best homemade eggs and bacon. Last summer mama and I made a cook book with all of mother's recipes.

On the farm we have lots of good crops growing my most favorite crop is our corn on the cob last year we made first place at the county Fair. Today is the annual cow milking contest at the Winn Dixie there milk supplies has gone down so the grand prize is $1,000. We need the money for the farm animals and more crops. "Come on Abigail, time for the contest" said papa "coming". Abigail sprinted to the truck feeling the breeze in her hair. As they arrived Abigail's worst enemy Nicole was there. Nicole is always jealous of Abigails hard work in farming. "Ready to lose Abigail" Nicole said "I don't like your harsh attitude Nicole" Abigail replied "you are just mad I am better than you". Abigail turned around and walked away. "Please take your places and approach your cow" said the judge. "Ready set go" I felt grate rush as I was milking my cow but then I looked at everyone else faster than me I got very nervous but then I looked at papa his smile on his face that gave me a feeling to never give up. "Done" the judges wondered who said that as the crowd screams to the winner I realized I was the first one to say done. "Who said that" the judges say "Me Abigail Publy". "Congratulations Abigail you have won $1,000". My father gives me the biggest hug ever. "Thank you for this wonderful experience" Abigail said to the storeowner. As we get home I know that papa's smile is what gave me that courage to win.